

William D. Kirk

William D. Kirk currently serves as director of sales for Bio-Medical Devices Intl Inc., a division of Maxair Systems. After spending almost two decades serving the high containment laboratory industry, Kirk has sold, developed, manufactured, and imported personal protective equipment (PPE) products with special attention to the material specifications and converting process.